

Mission to Metro Ministries

On November 11th the First Congregational Church of Manchester filled Christmas stockings with gifts, collected a large number of Christmas cards, and assembled a large stash of winter clothes for Metro Ministries in New York City.

Rev. Steven Berry delivered the church's items and shoes donated by Manchester Footwear on November 12th. Under founder Bill Wilson, Metro Ministry's 180 staff and 300 volunteers serve over 20,000 children from low-income families.

Beyond the needs of New York City, Metro Ministries works to bring relief to children throughout the world. It has also joined the global fight against the sex trafficking of children.

"Supporting Metro Ministries is part of our mission to bring hope to the world," shared Rev. Berry.

For more information about Metro Ministries, visit www.metroministries.org.
Information about FCC can be found at www.manchestmeetinghouse.com.